

Pipeline Association for Public Awareness

Laptops for Volunteers Program

To facilitate communications with emergency response personnel, the Pipeline Association for Public Awareness, in partnership with the Colorado State Fire Chiefs' Foundation and the Colorado Division of Fire Safety with has initiated a program called Laptops for Volunteers. The purpose of this program is to provide laptop computers to volunteer emergency response agencies. Details of the program are outlined below:

1. The goal of the program is to improve communications with emergency response agencies by providing equipment that will facilitate electronic communications.
2. Only volunteer agencies or organizations representing volunteer agencies are invited to participate in the program. Agencies wishing to participate should email the Pipeline Association for Public Awareness with their location and contact information.
3. Equipment is intended to be distributed primarily on a first come first serve basis; however, the Pipeline Association for Public Awareness does not control the donation process.
4. Equipment does not come with software. All software will have to be provided by the agency receiving the equipment.
5. The condition of the equipment is not known. The Pipeline Association for Public Awareness and the equipment donors make no guarantees about the condition of the equipment or its fitness for a particular purpose.
6. The equipment is not being sold, it is being freely donated. The safe use of the equipment is the responsibility of the recipient.

Volunteer emergency response agencies wishing to participate may do so by sending an email to info@pipelineawareness.org and include: Contact name, shipping address, phone number and agency name.
